

Remote Workspace | Government

All eyes are on Public Sector technologists pivoting their priorities toward remote workers with secure access to the data and applications they need for maintaining the critical municipal services we all rely on. The COVID-19 crisis leaves little room for error. ConvergeOne can expedite your efforts with a tight, tested architecture for virtual desktop delivery that puts you in the driver's seat without compromising your data security standards—and without the guesswork of sourcing multiple products from a COVID-compromised supply chain.

ConvergeOne's Remote Workspace solution is purpose-built on cloud-based desktop technologies by AWS WorkSpaces to provide you with on-demand, infinitely-scalable, secure Windows or Linux desktops accessible from anywhere in the world and on virtually any device. Enable your workforce with a "Bring Your Own Device" model to securely access the resources they would typically use in the office.

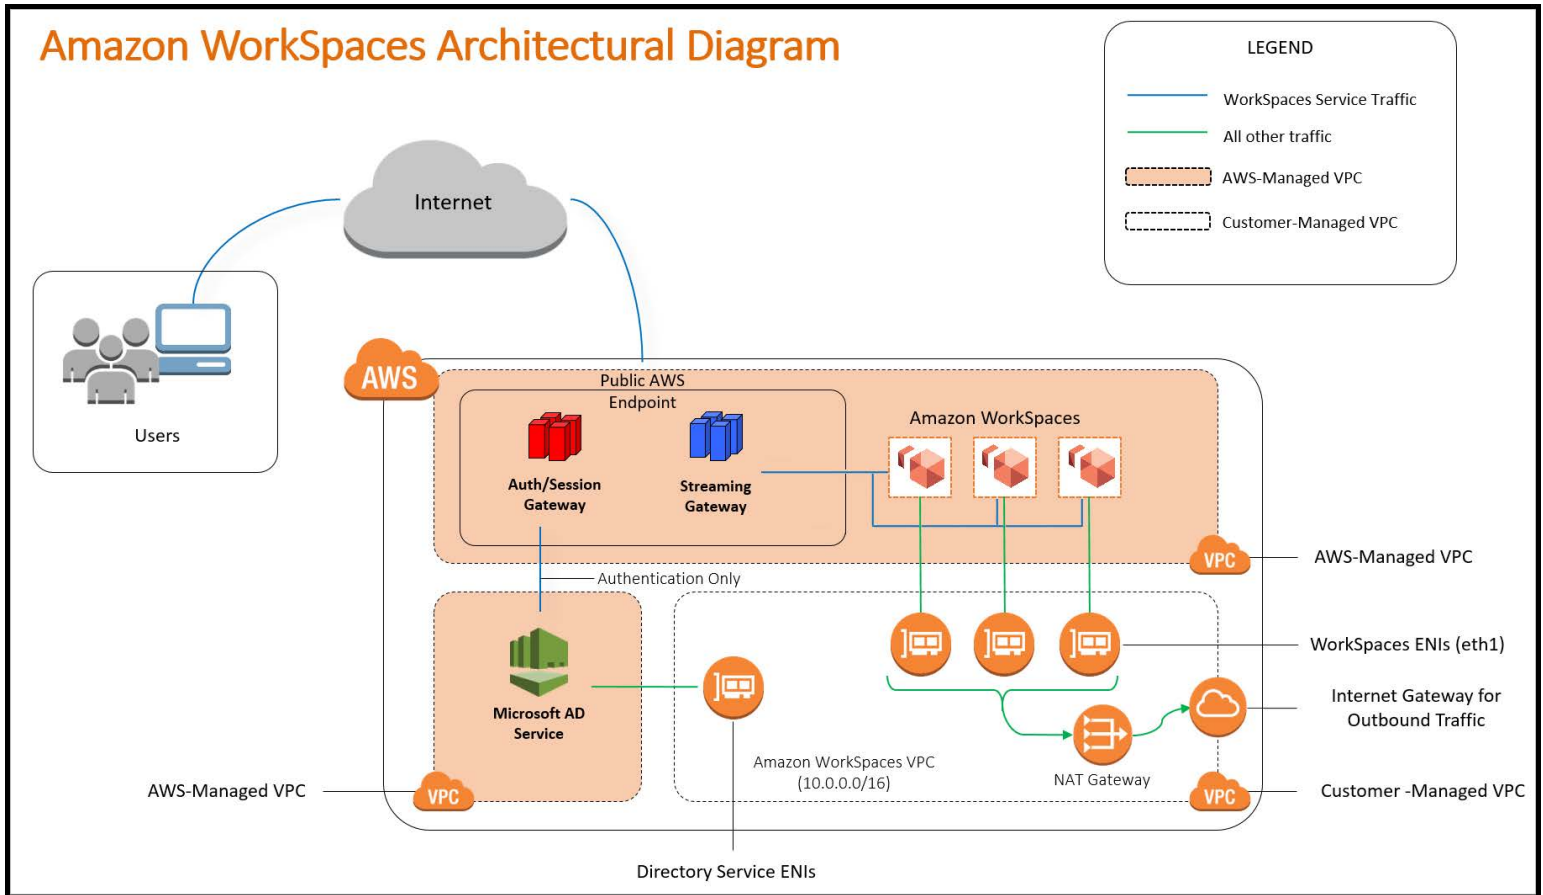

Benefits of ConvergeOne's Remote Workspace:

- Deploy desktops to employees within minutes
- Secure data and applications within the cloud, not on individual computers
- Provide low cost, on-demand resources
- Scale CPU, memory, and storage resources up and down to meet performance needs
- Centrally manage access controls and provisioning

What's Included?

- No charge Workshop and Assessment to capture the right requirements for your Remote Workspace
- Up to 50 free Windows and/or Linux desktops until June 30, 2020
- Expert design, installation, and quickstart services by ConvergeOne Data Center Engineers
- Windows and Linux desktop Operating System licensing
- Cloud connectivity to your data center through Data Center VPN, SD-WAN, and/or Direct Connect options

ConvergeOne Remote Workspace Architecture Example

GET STARTED TODAY

We know that municipal leaders are looking to you during these unprecedented times. With over 2,000 clients in the Public Sector, ConvergeOne is here to help you succeed with a streamlined, data-driven approach to safe and productive work from home initiatives. Get started on this special offer by visiting convergeone.com/emergency-response-offers.